

IT'S MY LIFE

Pre-Serialization Sketch Reveal

The sketches I made prior to serialisation that I put on Twitter were well-received, so I thought I'd put a bunch of them here.

■ Drawing of when Riff was a Protagonist

To your disbelief, Riff was a character I created around two years ago as a "heroine."

When I first created her character, I didn't intend for her to be in "It's My Life". I was actually thinking about making some sort of simple action game and making her the heroine.

But I had to delay those plans because my manga activities kept me busy all the time.

My original idea was some sort of side-scrolling game that would be based on collecting gems as materials in order to make magical tools.

Her original name was "Riruka", and her pioneering personality hasn't changed.

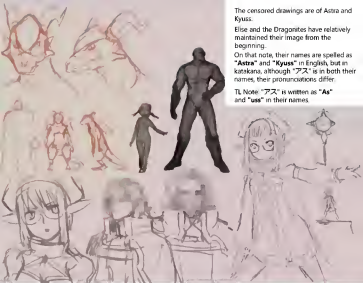

She was a bit more childish than the current Riff.

I might adapt some of the scenes I made for her back then, and show them in some of Riff's flashback chapters in the future.

Because of a personal rule where my girl heroines should always have "pink hair and a blue and white outfit," my heroines always end up having a similar colour scheme.

When I adapted this for It's My Life, in order to keep her from overlapping Noah, I made her hair colour slightly closer to orange and I'd often change her hair accessories and attire (such as making her goggles a hair accessory).

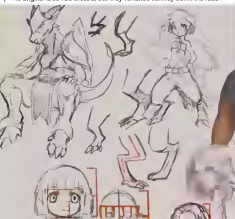

The censored drawings are of Astra and Kyuss.

Else and the Dragonites have relatively maintained their image from the beginning.

On that note, their names are spelled as "Astra" and "Kyuss" in English, but in katakana, although "アス" is in both their names, their pronunciations differ.

TL Note: "アス" is written as "As" and "uss" in their names.

↑ The original Elise had breasts, but they vanished halfway down the road.

The initial Noah was a young girl who was relatively determined and frank and didn't have much charm.

End of Reveal 1 (Number 2 will happen sometime later)

重版、
重版キャンペーンに続き
またもや博打企画!?

「IT'S MY LIFE」
第2巻発売記念!!

成田芋虫先生

○○○

開催決定!!

Nitori: This is just a promotional advertisement for an exhibition that Imomushi held ages ago after Volume 2's release, offering to give attendees signatures. Since it's not important to the plot and I don't want to waste time translating it, I simply included the pages as-is so you can see the art. I'll likely do the same for any future adverts like this

IT'S MY LIFE

イツマイライフ

A scene from the video game Final Fantasy XIV. On the right, a massive Behemoth stands, its head tilted back and mouth open as if roaring or eating. It has dark, scaly skin and a large, light-colored, shell-like structure on its chest. On the left, a small Lalaurieau, a character with large orange ears and a purple tunic, stands on a rock, looking up at the giant creature. The background is a lush, green forest with sunlight filtering through the trees, creating a bright, hazy atmosphere.

IT'S MY LIFE

イツマイライフ

IT'S MY LIFE. 7

イッマイライズ